REMARKS [REDACTED]

1. It was observed at the end of December 1950 that a Polish Army depot, believed to be an ordnance depot, was located about 300 meters northeast of the railroad station of Naklo (P 54/S 54). [REDACTED] underground bunkers were in the area northeast of the depot, and that they were connected with the depot by a railroad spur. The depot building proper, about 100x50 meters, had a railroad spur. Adjoining on the east of the building was a small house quartering the guard personnel.
2. An eastbound Polish troop train of flatcars and waterized boxcars was observed near Allenstein (R 54/E 66) on 23 or 24 December 1950. The flatcars carried an undetermined number of armored vehicles.
